Malone Building Solutions Celebrates 30 Years in Business
Firm Provides St. Louis Region with a Wide Range of Design-Build Services

April 27, 2006: O'FALLON, IL— Malone Building Solutions of O'Fallon, IL celebrates the 30th anniversary of its founding in May 2006. Established as a commercial builder, Malone Building Solutions now provides the St. Louis region with a wide range of design-build services.

Marty Malone, Vice President of Malone Building Solutions, notes that the firm has evolved with the changing industry. “Thirty years ago our firm primarily focused on general contracting, but we’ve grown since then,” Malone said. “We now specialize in a ‘Concept to Completion’ approach to the planning, design and building aspects of commercial and religious construction. This business model provides clients with faster completion and reduced costs.”

Malone Building Solutions’ wide range of services includes feasibility studies, concept design and budgets, site selection as well as complete design and construction services. Formerly known as Malone Construction, the firm recently changed its name to Malone Building Solutions to reflect its commitment to providing complete solutions for design-build commercial and religious construction.

Malone Building Solutions, founded in 1976, is an innovative company that specializes in both the design and building aspects of commercial construction. The full-service firm provides a “Concept to Completion” approach that ensures seamless project delivery. For more information on Malone Building Solutions, visit www.maloneco.com.
